Does your student hate math or need help with computation strategies?

An author of an advice book on helping kids with math homework will hold a problem solving workshop for students Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Centerville Community Center, 3025 Bethany Church Road in Snellville.

The cost of the workshop is $40. Parents can pre-register their kids by calling 770-985-4713.

The lessons will be led by Sandra Carter, "The Math Lady," and author of the book "How to Help Parents and Kids Get Over the Fear of Math."
